

Something's Happening Here, What It Is Ain't Exactly Clear. . .

It starts when you're always afraid.

Fauci lied and people died! To be clear, Fauci wasn't the only one who orchestrated the scam of the century on a credulous and frightened world with help from a complicit media. The virus, with its exaggerated mortality rate, was just the opening round. Inoculating the world was its real objective. A gain-of-function bio-weapon was likely concocted by a hostile nation with funding from our own government. Fear spread faster than Covid.

You step out of line, the man come and take you away. What a field-day for the heat.

Lockdown! Businesses (some never to open again), restaurants, churches and schools were closed to "stop the spread." Favored vendors such as WalMart, Costco and Amazon, were allowed to carry on, as well as businesses deemed essential, which inexplicably included liquor stores and marijuana dispensaries. Some winners; mostly losers. People sitting in their cars attending open-air church services or watching the sunset were arrested or handed huge fines for violating the quarantine while a privileged few ignored the rules.

Paranoia strikes deep; Into your life it will creep.

Despite the lack of therapeutic evidence, social distancing and masks ruled the day. Those who chose not to comply were shunned and castigated. People became isolated, children became depressed, many lost their jobs. Hospitals were financially incentivized to use harmful drugs and treatments and forbidden to use effective medications. Dissident doctors were attacked. People died alone, separated from their loved ones.

Mostly say, hooray for our side.

Pharmaceutical companies, protected from legal liability, produced a "vaccination" with potentially dangerous ingredients that are still being discovered. Governments around the world purchased millions of doses while Big Pharma walked away with billions in profits. The government, celebrities, the media and the "experts" all colluded to control the messaging. Dancing health care workers and "free stuff" promoted a shot that had failed its clinical trials. The normal collection of post-shot data was ignored or covered up. Businesses, schools and the military issued mandates and denied religious exemptions right and left, while certain "protected classes," such as politicians and celebrities were able to fake it.

There's battle lines being drawn.

The unvaccinated were treated as pariahs. And to this day, lost friends and broken families have been the result. Doctors are mysteriously "baffled" at the rash of sudden, unexpected deaths and refuse to admit the so-called cure was worse than the disease. An estimated 17 million plus people worldwide have literally lost their lives from heart attacks and turbo cancers and many are left with lifelong, debilitating conditions.

I think it's time we stop, children, what's that sound? Everybody look what's going down.

Disease X or a black swan event will be right on schedule to compromise our already insecure elections. The question is: Will you be fooled again?

Something's happening here,

What it is ain't exactly clear.

Stop, children, what's that sound?

Everybody look what's going down.
