Great Summer Reading - As the last VIP Newsletter before the summer break, this month's edition contains excerpts from a weekly conservative newsletter published by Robin Itzler of Orange County, CA. Her newsletters are always informative, as well as entertaining. Action: Subscribe to Robin's newsletter by emailing her at: PatriotNeighbors@yahoo.com

A Long Hot Summer - Not about "climate change," more like a panicky leftist agenda. Leftist schemes are heating up as they try to distract you from the Great Awakening happening across America and the world. Action: Keep calm and carry on. Stay away from the biased media who have partnered with government agencies to censor information and control the narrative. Find alternative sources of online and broadcast news. Avoid Fox News as well, which has gone over to the dark side. (See page 2 for recommendations.)

Activist Groups - Every county has activist groups that focus on particular issues. They always need volunteers to address envelopes, make phone calls, deliver flyers and knock on doors. Plus, meeting and working with others to strategize and achieve common goals helps you through the "hard" times. There is strength in numbers. Action: Donate to worthy organizations and join a few activist groups that focus on your greatest concerns. Read articles that help you navigate often contradictory information. Subscribe to <https://www.TheEpochTimes.com> for information the mainstream media often ignores or spins.

Patriotic Events - Every county has events that feature speakers who are pursuing justice or are running for office in order to gain insight. The opportunity to ask questions and evaluate potential candidates will help you determine for yourself what to believe in this era of censorship. Action: Subscribe to mailing lists for event information. (See page 2 for recommendations.)

The Simple Things - It may seem like the sky is falling, but you have a choice. Stick your head in the sand or take steps to control your own situation. The simple things in life are all that really matter. Action: Get your financial house in order. Stock up on shelf stable food. Grow a garden. Patronize your local farmers' market. Join a local organic farmers' co-op. Consider opting out of your SMART phone or turn it off and carry it in a Faraday bag. Love God, love your family, love your neighbors. Make kindness a habit.

Your Financial House - The "system" rescues the Big Banks for a reason. Bank of America was recently exposed working with the government and voluntarily turning over customers' financial and location information (2A and J6). Catherine Austin Fitts (an investment expert who regularly appears on <https://ChildrensHealthDefense.org>) recommends spreading your money around to 3 different financial institutions. While digital currency (a government mechanism to control individual purchases and behavior) may be on the horizon, nothing is certain but doing nothing is not an option. Action: Pay off debt. Buy what you need, not what strikes your fancy. Check out Old Glory Bank based in Oklahoma. Join a local credit union. Use cash instead of credit cards. Keep additional cash on hand. Consider precious metals.

The Power of the Purse - Boycotts work! Why buy from companies that hate you? Action: Avoid the woke corporations. You can recognize them by the flags they fly, the merchandise they promote, the organizations they fund, the t-shirts they wear and their subservience to ideological policies (CRT, DEI, ERG, etc.).

A Spiritual Battle - In 1991, R.E.M. released a song called "Losing My Religion," a harbinger of things to come, as well as an ideological disease that is infecting our country. We must live our faith, speak up for morality and teach our children well. Goodness, truth and trust in God will win in the end. Action: Encourage your pastor to learn more about Biblical Citizenship Training through the Salt & Light Council (<https://www.saltandlightcouncil.org/schedule-training/>) Stand fast and put on the full armour of God!

Dodger Pride Night - Around 2000 protestors gathered in front of Dodger Stadium on June 16.

Dodger Stadium in Anaheim as it appeared on Twitter one hour before the game started.

After all the sturm und drang surrounding the Dodgers' pride night ceremony honoring a pornographic hate group known as the Sisters of Perpetual Indulgence, the pride event itself barely registered. The cowardly Dodgers executives buried the ceremony by holding it a full hour before the game even began and in front of a nearly empty stadium. Just TWO of the brave and proud sisters dared to show their clown-painted faces! Sister Unity and Sister Dominia, middle-aged male drag queens clad in habits and crosses, stood still in their finery while the announcer welcomed them to a smattering of cheers and boos. GEN. McCHRISTAL:
His parting words to Barack Obama

“The fight is coming to your door. All of us will be forced to pick a side.
I wish it weren’t so, but it is. The left will not leave you alone.
You’re not their opponent, you’re their enemy. The sooner you recognize this, the better prepared you’ll be for the moment it hits home.”
—Dan Bongino

THE TIDE HAS STARTED TO TURN

Companies that swiftly embraced leftist radical ideology are realigning their positions following Conservative Patriot protests. From retail stores to major sports leagues, these businesses realize that there is another view that’s equally as important to their company’s bottom line. While most companies are not (yet) abandoning leftist doctrine, many plan to scale back future support for events and merchandise.

In the latest Gallup poll, 69 percent of Americans said that transgender athletes should only be allowed to compete “on teams that match their birth gender.” That is up from 62 percent in 2021. In that same survey, 55 percent of Americans said that it’s “morally wrong” to change one’s gender, which is up from 51 percent.

In 2023, 23 percent of shareholders embraced environmental, social, and corporate governance (known as ESG) compared to 36.6 percent in 2022 and 50 percent in 2021, per the Sustainable Investments Institute.

The tide is turning because Conservative Patriots are pushing back. Here are other reasons to believe that the tide is turning toward basic American Conservative values:

- = Some students at Marshall Simons Middle School in Burlington, Massachusetts refused to celebrate Pride.
- = In February, Major League Baseball Commissioner Rob Manfred told teams that players should NOT wear Pride rainbow-themed caps or uniform patches. MLB's directive only became known in recent weeks.
- = NHL Commissioner Gary Bettman has said that pride nights at NHL games have "become more of a distraction."
- = Many parents in the Glendale Unified School District recently protested Pride celebrations planned at schools.
- = Anheuser-Busch has lost $27 billion in corporate value since the boycott of Bud Lite started. Many analysts predict the brand will never regain its customer base.
- = Target has lost $15 billion in corporate value since their customer boycott started.
- = Following calls for a boycott, Kohl's has greatly reduced prices on its Pride merchandise both in the store and online. (Guess there aren't that many people looking for Pride clothes for INFANTS and CHILDREN.)
- = The all-Muslim Hamtramck, Michigan City Council, with a population of 27,000, voted to only allow city and state flags and flags from nations represented in its population to fly over city buildings. Private businesses can fly whatever flags they want.
- = The Orange County Board of Supervisors voted that only government flags should fly from county buildings, i.e., Stars and Stripes, California, state flag, MIA/POW flag. Private businesses can fly whatever flags they want.
Kudos to Conservative Patriots of Orange County (CPOC), a growing and influential organization that rallies members to attend the biweekly BOS meetings where many attendees comment on issues. We believe that this vote passed 3:2 because of CPOC's activist determination.
- = Starbucks is said to have initiated a no decorations policy prior to the start of June. The company did not refer to Pride but focused on all kinds of decorations in their establishments.
- = The Fox News boycott continues along, as Tucker Carlson has millions more listeners on his "Tucker on Twitter" posts. MSNBC won the primetime ratings war the week of June 4. Unless there is a last-minute data reporting change, Fox News 120-week-long primetime winning streak is over.
- = Leading female athletes are demanding that biological men (aka trans women) compete in their own category and not with biological women.
- = Corporations that embraced Pride, are seeing (or will soon see) shareholder lawsuits filed demanding to know why the corporation wasted corporate assets, damaged the company's brand and reputation and in some instances created a hostile work environment for its Conservative employees.
- = An empty Dodger Stadium Friday night was a "win the battle." An empty Dodger Stadium the next day, the day after that ... is a "win the war."

GOP PRIMARY BECOMING A JOKE

On the Republican side, Florida will soon have three residents running for president. In addition to President Donald Trump and Governor Ron DeSantis, two-term Miami Mayor Francis Suarez announced he is running. The question is why?

On the Democrat side, a recent The Economist and YouGov poll found Robert F. Kennedy Jr. was viewed favorably by 49 percent of respondents and unfavorably by just 30 percent. According to pollsters, Kennedy Jr. had a net rating of 19 points that was higher than any other candidate running in either party. As a reward for South Carolina pushing Joe “Big Guy” Biden over the 2020 primary finishing line (thanks to Representative Jim Clyburn), the Democrat National Committee changed the order for primary state voting awarding the Palmetto state the first primary. Of course, the DNC claimed the change was because Iowa and New Hampshire, caucus and primary respectively, were too white. (Isn’t everything “too white” to Democrats?)

However, Iowa and New Hampshire might defy the DNC and schedule their events BEFORE South Carolina. And what is the DNC response? A laughable threat that if the states allow voting before South Carolina, Joey’s name will not be on the ballot. That means Democrats in those two states will receive ballots that have only two names on them:

4Robert F. Kennedy, Jr. (currently polling around 20 percent)

4Marianne Williamson

Democrats could write in Biden’s name. Surely there are many enthusiastic supporters in Iowa and New Hampshire among the “81 million” who “voted” for the Big Guy. Most likely, RFK Jr. would win the first caucus and primary while Joey sits in his basement eating ice cream. Just remember that the same Democrats in 2020 who stole the election from Donald Trump could steal the 2024 Democrat primary from RFK Jr.

On the third-party side, former Harvard scholar Cornel West (a longtime surrogate for Bernie Sanders – need we say more?) is running for president under the People’s Party.

re-elections, remember these so-called Republicans did not give a “Schiff” about America First Patriots! The House will bring this up for a vote again this week. Let’s watch if they still vote with Democrats ...

GEN. McCHRISTAL: Final meeting with Barack Obama

In General Stanley A. McChrystal’s book, “Never Stand in Line Again” he shares the story of his final meeting with President Barack Obama. The synopsis of the meeting:

Some men carry and handle their diplomacy better than others. When former U.S. Military commander in Afghanistan, General McChrystal, was called into the Oval Office by Barack Obama, he knew things weren't going to go well when the President accused him of not supporting him in his political role as President.

"It's not my job to support you as a politician, Mr. President, it's my job to support you as Commander-in-Chief," McChrystal replied, and he handed Obama his resignation.

Not satisfied with accepting McChrystal's resignation, the President made a cheap parting shot. "I bet when I die, you'll be happy to piss on my grave." The General saluted and said, "Mr. President, I always told myself after leaving the Army I'd never stand in line again."

LAUGH, CRY OR SAY AMEN

Just days after the D-Day Anniversary, where thousands of brave Americans died so elections could be stolen and given to feeble minded people, the White House held a Pride event on its massive lawn. Joe “Big Guy” Biden had the audacity to say to people who chopped off their penis or breasts, "You're some of the bravest and most inspiring people I've ever known. And I've known a lot of good folks. I see more courage in this lawn than I've seen in any time in the recent past."

A few days later in D.C. at the League of Conservation Voters, Joe “Dementia” Biden said with PREPARED remarks as the audience frequently laughed at him:

- “The Build Back Biden – Build Back Better and we realize that got confusing so now we don’t call it that – what we call it is — here’s the bottom line, look, we’re the ones that caused the problem.”
- “We have plans to build a railroad from the Pacific all the way across the Indian Ocean.”

Joe Biden is a joke and the joke is on the American people! Here are some real reasons to laugh:

■ Well, to be perfectly honest, in my humble opinion, of course without offending anyone who thinks differently from my point of view, but also by looking into this matter in a different perspective and without being condemning of one’s views and by trying to make it objectified, and by considering each and every person’s valid opinion, I honestly believe that I completely forgot what I was going to say.

■ Joe Biden: I told you I would beat inflation. Just look at the price of Bud Light compared to a year ago.

■ Put a potato in the microwave and press the pizza button. When the buzzer sounds and you open the door it’s still a potato. That’s pretty much how “choosing your gender” works.

■ Yesterday my husband thought he saw a cockroach in the kitchen. He sprayed everything down and cleaned thoroughly. Today I’m putting the cockroach in the bathroom.

■ My heart says wine and chocolate, but my jeans say salad.

■ Senator John Kennedy: America is so great that people who hate it, refuse to leave.

■ My mind is like an internet browser. At least 18 open tabs, 3 of them are frozen, and I have no clue where the music is coming from.

■ Alien to earthling: What makes you human?

Human: Selecting all images with traffic lights.

■ I’ve reached that age where my brain goes from “You probably shouldn’t say that” to “What the hell? Let’s see what happens.”

■ Having lived through the pandemic, I understand why Italian renaissance paintings are full of fat people lying on couches.

■ Brian lives in San Francisco and had become fed up with what was happening all around him. He was sick of the world, COVID, Donald Trump, the "My Pillow" guy, Russia, China, global warming, street crime, fentanyl, illegal immigrants, racial tensions, and the rest of the disturbing stories that occupy media headlines.

He couldn’t take it anymore so one day Brian drove his car into his garage closed every doorway and window, as best he could and got into his car. He wound down all the windows, selected his favorite radio station, started the car, and revved it to a slow idle.

Five days later, a worried neighbor peered through his garage window and saw him in the car. She notified the emergency services, and they broke in, pulling Brian from the car. A little sip of water and, surprisingly, he was in perfect condition, but his Tesla had a dead battery.

Brian is a registered Democrat.
